Dear Parents and Students of Year 12,

Given that remote learning is likely to continue in Sydney next week, the school will delay the start of the HSC trial exams for at least a week. When we receive specific guidance on the HSC trials, the school will advise parents of a future start date for the exams.

Anticipating remote learning, Year 12 teachers will be online during the normal timetabled lessons during Week 1. The practical arrangements for this will be sent to all parents later in the week.

Students who wish to come to school this week to work on HSC major work projects can contact their class teacher to arrange appropriate times.

Kind regards,

Mr David Stonestreet
Deputy Principal
